A MESSAGE FROM DR. ANNE PRISCO

Dear Friends,

It is a pleasure to present the Felician College Annual report.

As I reflect upon the past academic year, my first as president, I do so with immense gratitude. I have been encouraged and inspired by the efforts of so many, and am continually impressed by the dedication of our hard-working faculty and staff as well as the commitment to learning of our extraordinary students.

Fiscal trends are clearly impacting the landscape of higher education, and we are not immune to their influences. As president, my top priority and greatest challenge is to control costs and align resources to uphold and strengthen the excellent educational experience that defines Felician.

We continue to upgrade our facilities, including newly refurbished biology labs, a technology project that will make both campuses wireless, new spaces in the restored historic Castle for student use as well as staff, faculty and community meetings, and completely renovated residence halls. Construction is underway on what will be our new education commons. This state-of-the art building on the Rutherford campus will house library services, individual and group study spaces, high-tech classrooms and a nursing skills resource center.

Our commitment to the Felician Franciscan mission remains steadfast. Our teaching-learning experience continues to be a hallmark of what is distinct about a Felician College education: an experience that encourages you to have an open mind and heart, enables you to find a sense of self with educational and community opportunities, and inspires you to be more than you ever imagined. Felician students continually offer their time and talents to individuals and organizations in need – a true testament to the living mission and values of our Franciscan heritage.

We thank you for your generous support of Felician College and its students. Your commitment truly energizes our College community, ensures our future success and allows us to continue to provide an affordable, high quality education to all who desire one.

In the words of Saint Francis of Assisi, pace e bene.

Anne M. Prisco, Ph.D.

Honors Convocation Celebrates Academic Excellence

The Franciscan values of respect, peace and seeking the good in all mankind were among the compelling messages brought to life at the Academic Honors Convocation on November 7, which celebrated excellence in the classroom by students and faculty alike.

Felician College President Dr. Anne Prisco and Sister Mary Rosita Brennan, Provost and Vice President of Academic Affairs, greeted the audience of faculty members, Dean's List recipients and their friends and family who gathered in the Breslin Auditorium on the Lodi campus for the ceremony.

"This is a night to truly celebrate academic excellence," said Sister Rosita, noting that more than 500 students were on the Spring 2013 Deans List, which requires a 3.5 grade point average.

Dr. Prisco told those in attendance: "It's always a pleasure to honor our students, as well as our faculty, and to applaud their efforts, tireless dedication and countless hours of study and hard work. And it is our mission, as a Franciscan community, to provide each individual with the educational opportunities that bring you to your highest potential with informed minds and understanding hearts."

Dr. Prisco, along with Sister Rosita and Dr. Charles Rooney, Senior Executive Vice President, conferred an honorary doctor of Humane Letters upon Father Andre Cirino, who was the keynote speaker for the ceremony.

Father Andre, a renowned presenter of the works of Saint Francis, the patron of Felician College, also has led travelers to Francis' hometown of Assisi, Prague, Germany and the California Missions for Franciscan Pilgrimage Programs. He has many published works on the Franciscan traditions, and shared those messages during his address.

"Only God is good but it must flow through us," Father Andre told the audience. "That message is the hope of the Franciscan theology – that we always try to speak to the good that is in people, as Francis did."

Among the other highlights of the evening were the musical selections by the Felician College choir and the presentation by Sister Rosita of the Faculty Excellence Award, which was given to Dr. Sherida Yoder of the English Department.

"Teaching is an art just as poetry is an art," said Dr. Yoder in accepting the honor. "If one can improve every year, every semester, it's as high a calling as we can receive."

Professionals from the Community FoodBank of New Jersey, JC Penney and Action Graphics also were on hand for the event.

Forging New Partnerships

The Felician College School of Nursing hosted a meeting with leaders of the State Chapter of the National Association of Hispanic Nurses (NAHN) to explore partnership opportunities among the School of Nursing, the Association and the Latino community. Currently, Hispanic nurses represent 18.5 percent of enrollment in the School of Nursing.

The meeting was attended by Felician College President Dr. Anne M. Prisco; Dr. Muriel M. Shore, Dean, School of Nursing; Sister Rosita Brennan, Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs; Francine Andrea, Vice President, Administration, Enrollment and Planning; the Associate Deans of Nursing and Associate Vice Presidents in Enrollment Management.

Marketing Event Well-Attended

The American Marketing Association, in collaboration with the AMA Club of Felician College and the Management and Marketing Department of the College's School of Business, hosted the AMA's Fourth Career Development event, which focused on the solutions and tools necessary for a career in marketing. More than 80 students and business professionals attended the event, which was held in the Fall.

Where Were You When...?

In commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, students on staff at Felician College's radio station interviewed staff and faculty and created a one-hour program that was aired between November 18 and December 1. The program included first-person accounts of November 22, 1963, and interviewees' thoughts on how the tragic event changed the course of history and impacted our country's political and social scenes.

Professor Terry McAteer, Chair, Felician College Communications Department, oversaw the project, which received widespread acclaim and was featured in the local newspaper, the South Bergenite.

WRFC, Radio Felician College, is a 24/7 internet-based, student run radio station. The WRFC staff design their own shows, select their music and discussion topics, and run the station's digital radio equipment. Membership in WRFC's staff is open to any student at the college.

Lecture Series Tackles Serious Topics

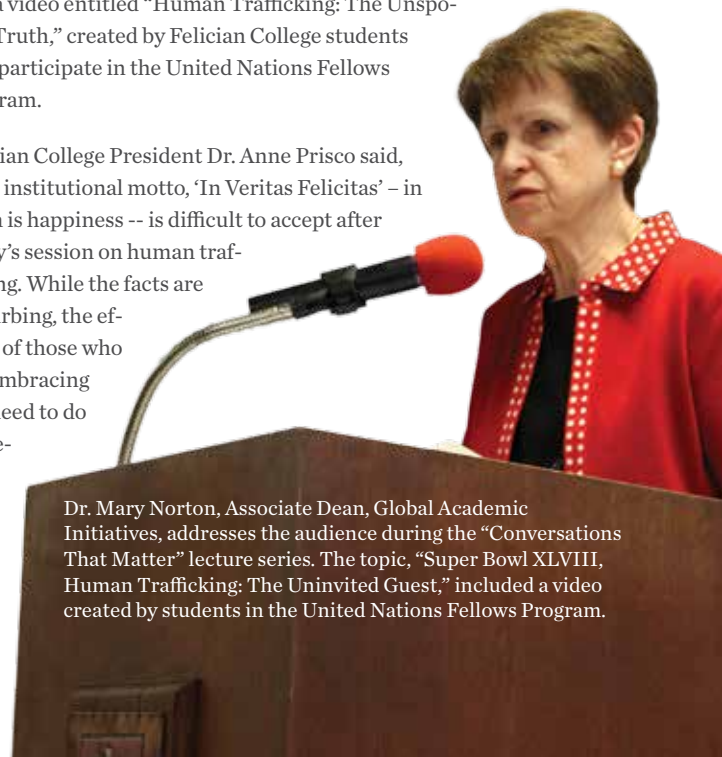

"Super Bowl XLVIII, Human Trafficking: The Uninvited Guest" was the topic for discussion during the "Conversations That Matter" lecture series held on December 4 in Obal Hall on the Lodi campus of Felician College.

A capacity crowd heard about the horrors of human trafficking and its impact on our global and local societies. Included in the presentation was a video entitled "Human Trafficking: The Unspoken Truth," created by Felician College students who participate in the United Nations Fellows Program.

Felician College President Dr. Anne Prisco said, "Our institutional motto, 'In Veritas Felicitas' – in truth is happiness -- is difficult to accept after today's session on human trafficking. While the facts are disturbing, the efforts of those who are embracing the need to do something about this, are examples of the power of individual and collective action. These advocates are living examples of our Felician Franciscan value of justice and peace that calls on us to advocate for social changes that promote respect for all persons.”

Guest speaker Assemblywoman Valerie Vainieri Huttie (D-37), a proponent of anti-trafficking legislation in the state, applauded the College’s initiative in tackling such a strong issue.

“This is not just happening in some remote corner of the world. This is modern day slavery that is happening right here in our backyards,” said Assemblywoman Huttie.

The topic was of particular interest as the NY/NJ area prepared to host the Super Bowl in February. Statistics show that an estimated 10,000 children and adults were trafficked into the Miami area before and during the Super Bowl in 2010. In the weeks before the big game, authorities took extra steps to thwart the number of potential victims in the metropolitan region.

Patricia Devine-Harms, legislative chair for the NJ Coalition Against Human Trafficking, also was in attendance. She urged continued involvement and awareness and lauded Felician’s students for being “abolitionists.”

The event was sponsored by the Felician College United Nations Fellows Program; Model United Nations; Office of International Programs; Office of Student Development and Enrichment; Residence Life; and the Student Government Association.

Syria Crisis the Focus of ‘Open Mic’ session at Felician

Several hundred students, faculty and staff members attended an open microphone session, presented by the School of Arts and Sciences together with the Office of Mission Integration, to discuss the escalating crisis in Syria and the possibility of involvement by the United States.

Dr. Robert Ingoglia, professor in the Department of History at Felician College, said that given the possibility of American intervention in the Syrian civil war, “we should meet and discuss our individual concerns regarding the current situation.”

“Issues concerning war and peace were so very important to Saint Francis and, as part of our contemporary Franciscan/Felician family, are equally important to all of us, irrespective of our different faiths and beliefs,” said Dr. Ingoglia.

Throughout the session, which took place in the Lecture Hall in Obal Hall on the College’s Lodi campus, members of the Felician community – faculty, staff and students -- took turns in stepping to the podium to express their opinions about America’s possible intervention, as well as offer suggestions as to how their “voices” can be heard.

There was no clear cut sway on either front, for or against U.S. military action. One thing was clear, however – the thought-provoking topic hit a chord with many people in the room.

Some who spoke recalled the reaction of the American people during the Vietnam conflict and the U.S. response to the Sept. 11 tragedy. Others encouraged contacting local representatives to have their opinions acknowledged.

One student spoke of what it meant to have friends and family in the U.S. military during a time of crisis. Another told the audience that we as Americans should first examine our own freedoms before taking any action.

Ultimately, the overwhelming theme was a message steeped in the Felician core values: we should strive for peace and a prayerful solution to the conflict.

“I am so very impressed both with the passion of the speakers and their willingness to hear and consider other people’s views. I am so very proud of all of our students,” said Dr. Ingoglia.

Real-Life 'CSI' was Dream Internship for Felician Student

For Caroline MacDonald, the past few months have been a case of life imitating art.

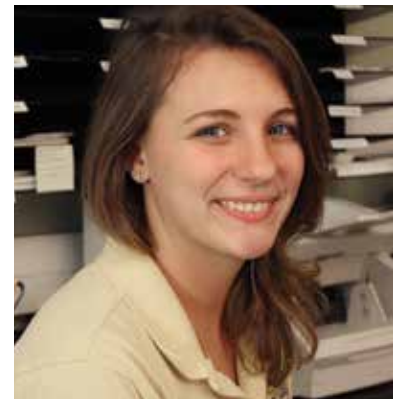

"I grew up watching Court TV and other cops shows like 'Law & Order' with my mother and I thought it was interesting to see how crimes were solved," said Caroline, who is majoring in Felician College's Criminal Justice program. This fall, the junior got hands-on experience with the Bergen County Sheriff's Office as an intern in the Bureau of Crime Investigation's Crime Scene Unit.

"I really got a look at how forensics works," said Caroline, who carried a full course load of 19 credits while doing her internship. "It was a great experience."

Caroline said most of her intern work dealt with forensics, such as fingerprinting and processing evidence. "We also processed samples that may or may not have been blood from crime scenes," she said.

Her favorite part of the work?

"Ballistics was definitely the most interesting, although nothing is done as quickly as television makes you believe," she laughed. "Sometimes it takes a long time and you don't always get answers but still, it's very cool stuff."

Brian Kelly, Assistant Professor, Criminal Justice, said Caroline's "outstanding communication and writing skills" are among the most important components when entering a field like Criminal Justice.

"These skills have allowed her to excel not only in the classroom, but in most importantly in 'real-life' endeavors, specifically her internship with the Sheriff's Department," said Professor Kelly. "Such an internship is priceless because it allows the student to observe what actually occurs in a law enforcement or social services agency while utilizing skills and knowledge learned in the classroom."

Caroline said part of the experience involved studying photos of old crime scenes and autopsies. “You definitely get used to it but some of it can be shocking at first,” she said. “But that’s a big part of the job.”

Caroline, who also is minoring in Cybersecurity, has her sights on another internship opportunity for the spring semester. This one takes it cues from the other side of the ‘Law & Order’ format.

“I’ve applied to be a paralegal intern,” Caroline said. “It still deals with crimes and investigation but from a different angle, so it should be just as interesting.”

Felician Career Services Making a Difference

Felician College was named the Career Center of the Month in November by the New Jersey Association of Colleges and Employers.

Melissa Faulkner, Director, Career Development Center at Felician, serves as President Elect/Vice President of Programming for the NJACE, said the honor further increases Felician’s visibility among the business community.

The Felician College Veterans Task force commemorated Veterans Day in a solemn ceremony on Monday, November 11 in front of Obal Hall on the Lodi campus. Members of the Lyndhurst Veterans Alliance Post 139 were guest presenters for the event, which included remarks by Felician College President Dr. Anne Prisco, Dr. Howard Burrell of Felician College, and Lodi Councilman Bruce Masopust, pictured.

“The connections forged by the members in this association yields more collaboration on events, and ultimately our students will benefit,” said Ms. Faulkner.

Established in the 1970s, the NJACE’s focus is to continually increase the competency and professionalism of Career Centers, provide programs of clear value to colleges and employers and inspire the highest level of active participation from our career services and employer membership. Currently, membership consists of 27 New Jersey colleges and universities and 11 employers.

Ms. Faulkner noted that a Felician student, Korey McGuiness, who participated in the summer internship program with an NJACE business, received high marks from the organization.

“Korey was hired by Enterprise Rent-A-Car and ended up being the highest performing intern in the country during the summer of 2013,” said Ms. Faulkner. “That says a lot about Felician students.”

She added that Felician College is joining forces with Fairleigh Dickinson University in Teaneck to co-host career fairs this fall and next spring. The co-sponsored fair is scheduled for October 30 from 12-4 p.m. at FDU.

“This will increase employer exposure to our students and student exposure to the professional world,” said Ms. Faulkner.

Felician College’s Career Development Center provides students with a host of services, including self-assessment tools, job sources, internship information, assistance with job search skills, and guidance and preparation for graduate school.

Felician College Named Military Friendly School for 3rd Consecutive Year

For the third consecutive year, Felician College has been named by Victory Media as a Military Friendly School for its commitment to providing a support environment for armed forces veterans and their families.

Felician’s inclusion on the list, which is the result of a survey of more than 12,000 schools, ranks it in the top 15 percent of all colleges, universities and trade schools nationwide.

As a military friendly institution, Felician offers dedicated financial benefits and has created uniquely tailored programs to help veterans achieve their academic goals.

Bachelor Degree programs that qualify for a military grant include Business, Computer Information Systems (CIS), Criminal Justice, Professional Studies, Healthcare Administration, Education and English. Fast-track programs feature evening classes in eight-week sessions that allow students to further their educations while working during the day.

“Felician College’s commitment to the military program shows a deep appreciation for the men and women who have bravely served our country,” said Felician College President Dr. Anne Prisco. “It also is a shining example of our Franciscan values of compassion and respect for all. I’m very proud of the College’s participation in this important initiative.”

Construction has begun on the Education Commons building on the Rutherford campus. The building will include a Nursing Resource and Simulation Center, a high-tech eLibrary, and state-of-the-art classrooms and laboratories. Anticipated opening is early 2015.

Happy Homecoming!

Alumni and friends of Felician College enjoyed an activity-filled weekend for 2013 Homecoming, which was organized by the Office of Alumni Relations and held September 20-22 on the Rutherford campus.

The weekend began with the Athletics Hall of Fame Dinner and Induction on Friday at The Graycliff in Moonachie. Saturday's day-long events included a barbecue and beer and wine tasting under the tent in the quad; tours of the Castle; face-painting and balloon twisting for the children; Zumba and yoga classes and basketball shoot-off; and music and dancing, highlighted by student performances. The day's activities were followed by Mass in the Castle chapel and a Wine and Chocolate Reception in the Castle parlor. Shuttle service then took fans to the Women's and Men's Soccer games later that evening.

On Sunday, alumni and friends tailgated and enjoyed the New York Jets win over the Buffalo Bills at Met Life Stadium.

Incoming freshmen and student athletes received a special blessing during a Mass on Sept. 11 to begin the Fall semester. Below, Felician College President Dr. Anne Prisco, center, and Board of Trustees member Ray Bramucci, right, welcome Bergen County Executive Kathleen Donovan, who addressed those in attendance following the Mass.

Members of the Felician College community brought their pets to campus for the annual blessing of animals on the feast day of Saint Francis, Oct. 3. Pictured is Father Damian Colicchio blessing Tami, with owner Ernie Bernarducci.

Felician Community Gathers for Christmas Crib and Tree Blessing

The Felician Community gathered for the annual blessing of the Christmas crib and tree in the lobby of Obal Hall on the Lodi campus.

Carols were sung between liturgical readings which were offered by Father Damian Colicchio, Father John O'Neill and several students.

Felician College's patron Saint Francis of Assisi is credited with the creation of the first nativity scene (the Christmas crèche) in 1223 having been inspired by his visit to the Holy Land where he visited Jesus' birthplace. Francis was to celebrate Christmas Eve Mass in the woods of Greccio near Assisi and asked that a manger, hay and animals be brought to the makeshift altar to replicate the birth of the infant Jesus. As the crowds gathered to celebrate, Francis is said to have stretched out his arms as if the Holy Child were there, and the manger became radiant with the light of the newborn King.

The tradition of the Christmas crib spread throughout the Christian world and remains in churches, homes and places of worship today.

PRAYERFUL START TO SEMESTER

Student leaders gathered for a daylong retreat in Kearny at the beginning of the Fall semester. The theme "Standing on the shoulders of those who came before us" was incorporated into the leadership-centered activities where students reflected on the core values of the Franciscan tradition. Pictured with students are Sister Juanita Arnsiter, Vice President for Mission Integration, and Sister Mary Theresa, Campus Ministry, right.

Felician College Golf Classic Benefits Student Scholarship Fund

More than 100 golfers and friends enjoyed a delightful autumn day for the 28th Annual Felician College Golf Classic held at Glen Ridge Country Club.

The annual event benefits the College's Scholarship Fund, which provides in excess of $13 million each year to students in need of financial support.

In addition to the College's supporters, members of the Felician men's golf team were on hand during the day. Among them was Jordan Tackett, an academic and athletic scholarship recipient, who addressed the crowd during dinner.

"They said I'd never be able to play sports in college because I had medical problems when I was younger," said Tackett, a junior who is studying business administration. "Felician offered me an opportunity of a lifetime. I will always be grateful and will work hard to make the most of this chance I've been given."

"How lucky we are that we can share this day and come together for such a good cause, namely our students," said Felician College President Dr. Anne Prisco, drawing upon the words by the Felician Sisters foundress, Blessed Mary Angela. "A community spirit does not just happen of itself. It flows from people who share a common tradition and strive for a common goal outside themselves."

"Jordan's story is an example of how students are impacted by your support. As a Franciscan institution, our mission is to follow the values of respect for all, compassion for those who need assistance, and joy in everything we do. By providing educational and financial opportunities to our students, we are living that mission and establishing strong foundations for their futures."

Sponsors of the event were: Century 21 Construction Corp.; Inserra Supermarkets; Arcari & Iovino Architects P.C.; H2M Architects & Engineers; Kearny Federal Savings; Boiling Springs Savings Bank; LP-Ciminelli; ESM/Ferolie; Scirocco Financial Group; Barnabas Health, Bartley Healthcare; East Orange General Hospital; Felician Franciscan Sisters; In-Line Air Conditioning Inc.; J. Independent College Fund of New Jersey

Felician College continues to benefit from generous corporate and foundation support given through the Independent College Fund of New Jersey. Begun in 1953, the Fund makes a single, united annual request to corporations and foundations on behalf of the 14 member colleges. For 60 years, the Fund has continued to secure corporate financial support for the State's independent colleges and to promote a greater understanding of the importance of maintaining the opportunity for choice between public and private education. The Independent College Fund of New Jersey represents all of the State's fully accredited, privately controlled colleges and universities, except those that are engaged primarily in religious studies.

The following donors contributed to the Fund in the calendar year 2012. Most gifts are allocated by formula although a number are designated to specific institutions. Support in 2012 for independent higher education in New Jersey through the Fund totaled $1.14 million.

Felician Inducts Symons, Wiebe to Inaugural Hall of Fame Class

Felician College President Dr. Anne M. Prisco presented for induction Robert D. "Bob" Symons and the late Dr. Russel Wiebe into the Felician College Athletics Hall of Fame at the group's inaugural banquet and induction ceremony on September 20.

Dr. Prisco welcomed all in attendance, and congratulated Symons and Lynn Wiebe, wife of the late Russel Wiebe, who accepted the award with her daughter Ava, age 12.

"This is a wonderful evening, and I feel very lucky that we're getting to do this together tonight," said Dr. Prisco, applauding the debut of the College's Athletic Hall of Fame. Felician's athletic program began in 1996.

"As a Catholic, Felician Franciscan College, we have to think about what matters and what makes us different," she said. "The role of Division II sports is to develop student-athletes. I so admire the discipline and sportsmanship that is nurtured, which allows them to be successful athletes and successful in the classroom."

Mr. Symons was Felician's first director of athletics. He came to Felician in the summer of 1993, more than three years before the Golden Falcons' initial intercollegiate event. Mr. Symons designed the College's first fitness center, and helped the new program gain national affiliation into the National Association for Intercollegiate Athletics.

"How many people get a chance to build a program from scratch?" Mr. Symons said in his acceptance speech. "I am so grateful to (then-Felician President) Sister Theresa Mary Martin for that opportunity. I worked hard to make sure the program was run for the benefit of the student-athletes. It's great to see the legacy live on.

He was also responsible for naming the program the Golden Falcons.

"We took a student survey, and Falcons came out as the winner. I added the Golden part because no other school in the country had that name and it was unique," said Mr. Symons. "Part of the tradition, though, was with Saint Francis, who is sometimes depicted in some pictures with a falcon, so it was a perfect match."

Mr. Symons later became the first head coach for men's and women's cross-country. He guided the men's squad to Central Atlantic Collegiate Conference championships in 2000 and 2001, and was named CACC men's Coach of the Year each season.

Lynn Wiebe graciously acknowledged her late husband's dedication to Felician.

"Russell was all about the students; he wanted to help the students, especially those who were struggling or from a more disadvantaged background," said Mrs. Wiebe. Russell's impact was evident by the large attendance at his funeral services in 2009. "Having Russell inducted into the first Hall of Fame is truly a honor to us and also to him, as this shows that what he did for the program really lives on. Things just don't end when a person passes; they keep going on in memory."

Wiebe served 12 years over two stints as a Felician assistant men's basketball coach, working under five different head coaches. At the time of his passing, he was also the academic advisor for the athletics department. As a professor of English at Felician, he served on the initial athletics exploratory committee before becoming the school's first Faculty Athletics Representative.

"The Franciscan model for this year is 'standing on the shoulders of those who came before us.' How appropriate that we're here tonight honoring these two individuals," said Dr. Prisco. "Our goal for students is to develop mind, body and spirit, and what better place to do that than through sports."

Dr. Prisco touted the diversity among the more than 150 Felician student-athletes who currently participate in the program.

"We have students from across the country and from 13 different countries. I always thought that was one of the wonderful powers of athletics -- it really transcends language because when you get on that field or on that court it really doesn't matter if you don't speak the same language. There is a common bond," she said.

Felician College Director of Athletics Ben DiNallo Jr. served as master of ceremonies for the event. He acknowledged the growth and success the program has achieved in its 17 years.

"We have 13 championships and have had All-Americans and Academic All-Americans," said DiNallo. "That's pretty good for a program that's not even 20 years old."

Dr. Prisco added: "As we move forward as an institution, athletics continues to play such an important part of who we are. I look forward to doing this every year."

Felician College to Add Three Sports to Athletics Program

Felician College is adding three sports to its athletics program, college officials announced.

New for the 2014-15 academic year will be women's outdoor track, women's bowling and women's lacrosse.

"We are adding these three sports for the continued growth of our athletic department," said Ben DiNallo Jr., Felician College Athletic Director. "We've identified these particular sports as those that are continually growing in popularity among women athletes. Also, two of the three -- lacrosse and outdoor track -- are currently conference championship sports so we will have immediate post-season opportunities because of our membership in the Central Athletic Collegiate Conference."

These additions bring Felician's NCAA Division II varsity intercollegiate offerings to 13 sports, five for men and eight for women.

Student Athletes Excel in the Classroom

Felician College students are showing their excellence on the field of play as well as in the classroom. Sixteen Felician student athletes have been named to the Central Atlantic Collegiate Conference Fall 2013 All-Academic Team, the CACC recently announced.

Senior Alysia Arcona and the women's soccer team highlighted the Felician list. Arcona, a two-time Capital One Academic All-American in women's soccer, earned her third CACC All-Academic Award, the maximum possible in one sport. Her team claimed 11 honorees, breaking its own school record (set last year with nine) for one sport in one year. The 16 overall winners match the number Felician sported in Fall 2012.

The academic requirement for inclusion to the CACC All-Academic Team is a cumulative grade-point average of 3.50 or higher. In all, 184 student-athletes from the CACC's 14 member schools were honored this fall. Felician's recipients are listed below with their major course of study.

Men's Soccer

The 2013 men's soccer team (4-11-2, 4-7-1 CACC) tied for 10th place in the Central Atlantic Collegiate Conference, finishing the season with a three-game unbeaten streak.

Junior transfer Rafa Coronel led Felician and tied for seventh in the CACC with eight goals, including an overtime game-winner against Philadelphia University on Oct. 26. Senior midfielder Azedine Maazouzi tallied one goal and tied for eighth in the conference with five assists.

Women's Soccer

Senior forward Alysia Arcona became the first female in Felician history to be voted to the Capital One Academic All-America® team twice. The honor capped a slew of awards for Arcona, who completed her Golden Falcon career with 25 goals and 19 assists, both among the top 10 all-time at Felician.

In 2013, Arcona netted five goals and two assists, and led the CACC with 69 shots. She was named the CACC September Student-Athlete of the Month, an honor which combines athletics, academics and citizenship. Postseason, she was presented her third All-CACC award, and is in line for her third academic all-conference award as well.

On the field, the Golden Falcons (4-9-5, 3-4-5 CACC) were fit to be tied, setting school records with nine matches decided in overtime and five draws. Felician placed 11th on the conference table, ending a string of five consecutive CACC playoff appearances.

Three different Golden Falcons -- goalkeepers Julia Sheridan and Bjonda Ademi and defender Kristen Toropiw -- earned the inaugural CACC Defensive Player of the Week award. Junior defender Christie Calandrillo was elected to the Capital One Academic All-District team for the second consecutive year.

Women's Volleyball

The 2013 women's volleyball team qualified for the Central Atlantic Collegiate Conference playoffs for the first time in six years. Felician (6-19, 6-13 CACC) captured the No. 4 seed from the CACC North Division. The Golden Falcons succumbed, 3-0, to CACC South No. 1 seed Wilmington (Del.) University in the conference quarterfinals.

Five-foot-11 outside hitter Olivia Emerson enjoyed a breakout sophomore campaign. She became the first player in the 10-year history of the program to win the CACC Player of the Week award twice, and the second Golden Falcon to ever be named all-conference. She concluded her season with a spot on the CACC All-Tournament Team. She finished second in the league with 3.70 kills per set, and her attack percentage of .208 was a point shy of the Felician single-season record.

On Sept. 25, Emerson set a school record with 29 kills in a five-set road victory over Concordia (N.Y.) College.

Felician bade goodbye to only one senior, middle blocker Alexa Scrivanich. She will graduate as Felician's third all-time leading blocker and No. 6 in career kills.

Men's Cross Country

The 2013 men's cross-country team had a strong top three runners, but lacked the needed depth to make a serious run at its 10th Central Atlantic Collegiate Conference crown.

True freshman Mike Secreti began the season on fire. In just his second career meet, he won the non-Division I side of the NJIT Invitational at Branch Brook Park in Newark, besting a field of 44 entrants with a time of 26 minutes, 12 seconds, for 8,000 meters. He was Felician's frontrunner for four of the five regular-season races, and was named the CACC Rookie of the Week on all five occasions.

Meanwhile, junior Keenan Huggins-Filozof was slowly building back into top form after sitting out the second half of 2012 with an injury. Huggins-Filozof's work was rewarded at the CACC Championship meet on Oct. 27 in Philadelphia, when he was the only Golden Falcon to earn 2013 all-conference honors. Felician finished third as a team in the race, the first time since 2009 it was not in the top two.

Sophomore Tom Cooke enjoyed a steady, consistent season. He was Felician's top runner (and third overall) at the Technology Challenge, hosted by NJIT on Oct. 5. He crossed the finish line first for the Golden Falcons again at the season-ending NCAA Division II East Regional in Boston on Nov. 10, clocking a 34:00 for 10,000 meters. Felician placed 17th out of 28 at the regional.

Cooke was the Golden Falcons' No. 2 man in all of the team's other five events.

Women's Cross Country

A pair of freshmen has infused life into the women's cross-country squad. Led by newcomers Sabrina Roldan and Kate Rohsler, Felician finished third at the 2013 CACC Championship. It was the best team result for the Golden Falcons since 2008, when they were also third.

Roldan became the first Felician female runner in three years to make the all-conference team. She ran 21 minutes flat for 5,000 meters to place 12th out of 86 entrants in the CACC race. Two meets earlier, Roldan set the school 5K record with a 19:18 at Branch Brook Park in Newark during the NJIT Technology Challenge.

During the regular season, Roldan was named the CACC Rookie of the Week twice, and Rohsler also captured the honor. Rohsler was Felician's frontrunner at the Monmouth Invitational on Sept. 21.

The improvement of junior Andrea Sarracino and the consistency of juniors Sylvia Bialy and Lianne Rossi were also key components to the Golden Falcons' success. The team loses no seniors to graduation.

Men's Golf

The men's golf team saved its best for last in the fall portion of the 2013-14 season.

At Chestnut Hill College's Griffin Invitational in Telford, Pa., Felician placed fourth out of 12 schools in attendance, shooting a team score of 344. The Golden Falcons put all four scorers among the top half of the 59 entrants, led by an 83 from Andrew Geesey and Jordan Tackett's 85.

Felician played in five tournaments, comprising eight 18-hole rounds, in the fall. Geesey leads the team with a scoring average of 78.0, and enters the spring with a legitimate chance of being just the second player in program history to qualify for NCAA regionals. Freshman Justin Rasmus is averaging 84.9. Tackett, who was recruited for baseball and has not played competitive golf since high school, is third on the team at 86.5

The Golden Falcons begin the spring half of their season with a dual match at Wilmington (Del.) University on March 15.

Felician Coach Creates Soccer Charity

Felician College assistant women's soccer coach Bryon Estrada of Rockaway has taken his love for the game of soccer to a whole new level. The sport has taken him back to his native country for his Futbol es Vida project.

Estrada created Futbol es Vida ("Soccer is Life") in Guatemala during the summer of 2013. The project offers free soccer clinics to the youth of low income areas.

The program, however, started unofficially five years ago, when Estrada teamed up with his father to donate medals and t-shirts from his business, La Academia de Futbol, to the town he was raised in.

In 2012, Bryon Estrada Sr. put his son in contact with the mayor and sports director of the town of San Lucas Sacatepéquez, which is located 25 kilometers away from the capital city of Guatemala City.

With this discussion, Estrada wanted to help out the children of this area, which has been negatively impacted by crime.

"Guatemala has been affected as a country by the increasing violence and drug cartels," said Estrada. "In the last decade, we have seen an alarming increase of youth involvement in drugs, extortion, criminal behavior, and also school drop outs."

Through this project, the mission set forth by the mayor and Estrada was to reach out to the youth of these low-income areas, hoping to get them closer to sports and keep them away from the drugs and violence that has become an everyday routine in this country.

"Through this project, we want to inculcate self-worth, dependability, discipline, commitment, tolerance, and the feeling of being able to achieve goals in these children," Estrada added.

The first International Clinics of this project took place on August 3-4, with 141 children from the ages of 7-16 participating. Children traveled from all over Guatemala to take part in the program.

"I met a kid who was 11 that walked three and a half hours to come to our clinic, being that he lived in an area where cars can't go through due to very poor road conditions," said Estrada. "He was up at 4 a.m. to be able to make it to the 8 a.m. clinic."

For the event, 48 uniforms, 50 t-shirts, 150 used soccer balls, soccer cleats, socks, shorts, trophies, and medal were all donated through the program, and all camps and clinics are free of charge.

"This is a way for me to give back to my country and to the sport I love, being that soccer has given me a lot in my life," Estrada said.

As a child in Guatemala, Estrada played on the junior national team. In addition to his current work at Felician, he coaches at the club level for the West Morris Soccer Club. But he has one eye on future plans for Futbol Es Vida.

He plans to travel back to Guatemala in November and December. In the meantime, he is hopeful of organizing a charity soccer game to collect more donations to help with the project.

"This has been such a great and rewarding experience, and I am blessed for the opportunity to do this," he said.
